

NON-CONSTRUCTION VOLUNTEERING AT HABITAT:

Habitat is more than construction! – You probably think of volunteering with Habitat as doing construction work, but we are so much more. We can use: quilters, bakers, receptionists, babysitters, floral arrangers, videographers, writers, photographers, realtors, social workers, educators, plumbers, roofers, electricians, lawyers, architects, engineers, and more! Below are a few of the jobs we are always looking for.

Hospitality Staff – Each morning, the hospitality crew greets the workers, helps them register, makes coffee, and writes some thank you cards.

Food Provider – Be a hero to our hungry construction volunteers! We provide crews with a snack each work day, and occasionally provide a lunch. You can help by bringing muffins or a yummy treat – homemade, purchased, or donated by a local business you’ve found – to the job site.

Devotions Provider – Professional clergy and lay leaders alike give a short, inspirational, non-sectarian devotion to our work crews at snack time. We ask that devotions be inclusive and sensitive, as people of all faiths - including people of no faith - are equally welcome at our work sites.

Coordinators – Someone needs to keep track of who is giving the devotion, providing the food, or staffing the registration table. We have coordinators to help with those jobs – which can be accomplished at home through telephone and/or email.

Retailers – We can always use cashiers, sales people, and folks who like to move, clean, or display the merchandise at our ReStore. This store helps fund Habitat’s mission on Cape Cod, and it is a fun place to work either once a week, or as a substitute.

Special Projects – Do you make quilts? Know of a youth group looking for a project? Have an idea of your own? Contact us to learn about unique volunteer opportunities, or to suggest one of your own!

Help in the office or serve on a committee – there’s always something to do at Habitat!
